Information regarding defect packaging material for single packed Microcuvettes

HemoCue has recently become aware of a production related problem, which has affected some of the packaging material for single packed Glucose 201 RT Microcuvettes from lot numbers mentioned above. The root cause of the problem has been identified and the problem has been corrected in the manufacturing process.

We would like to inform you that HemoCue® Glucose 201 RT Analyzers used together with the affected Microcuvettes still perform according to the ISO 15197:2003 standard.
